食

Delicious Specialty Dishes
Taste of Akita
秋田の味

Kiritanpo

きりたんぽ

Kiritanpo is made by cooking new rice, mashing it coarsely, putting it on skewers made of Akita cedar, and baking it. In the fall, people share the joy of the harvest by boiling mushrooms and other vegetables with local Hinai chicken and then putting kiritanpo in to make a delicious stew.

Akita Rice

秋田米

Blessed with rich soil, plentiful water, and an optimal day/night temperature difference, Akita has boasted of abundant rice production since early times. There is a large variety of rice foods in Akita, including kiritanpo, dried rice cakes, rice crackers, and foods rolled in rice flour.

Inaniwa Udon

稲庭うどん

A dry noodle that originated in Inakawa, Yuzawa City at the beginning of the Edo period. It has a smooth taste, and it is a very elastic noodle despite being thin. It is made using time-honored techniques such as stretching the noodles by hand.

Gakko

がっこ

"Gakko" is pickles. Local vegetables are enjoyed by pickling them. They include "iburigakko," made by smoking radish, "natazuke," which is cut with a rough-edged machete, "misozuke," and "kasuzuke."

Local Sake

地酒

Akita boasts of both abundant rice and sake production. Delicious sake is brewed by almost 40 breweries using traditional techniques that exploit the cold and snowy climate.

技

The techniques of artisans passed down from generation to generation.
Arts and Crafts
秋田市の工芸品

Akita Fukizuri Butterbur Stamping

秋田露摺

A dye craft in which the veins of the Akita butterbur leaf and the thin strings of the stalk are stamped on cloth and paper. The form of actual Akita butterbur is also stamped on sliding door paper and folding screens, etc.

Ginsenzaiku

銀線細工

A traditional craft in which extra-fine silver wire that resembles thread is used to make exquisite jewelry and works of art. Intertwined silver wire is flattened with a roller and wrapped around each other and weaved, resulting in a subdued radiance. It has been designated an Akita City designated intangible cultural asset.

Mokume-gane

空目銅

Mokume-gane, which is made by stacking and forging several different metals, is a technique that originated in Akita, an area that was rich in gold, silver, and copper. It was used to make armor and adornments in the Edo period, while accessories, flower vases, and so forth enjoy popularity today.

Ikomanuri Lacquerware

生駒塗

Ikomanuri, which is the product of repeated research on Okinawa and Ryukyu lacquerware techniques, is said to be the northernmost lacquerware with a vermilion-lacquered, solid-color finish.

Akita Yaki Pottery

秋田焼

Akita Yaki is characterized by the simple texture of unglazed pottery and its humorous three-dimensional carvings. They take on a black luster when used often.
